Biography: Mr. Michael Harasimowicz - Director of Artificial Intelligence Innovations, Lockheed Martin

Mike "Rabbi" Harasimowicz, is the Director for Artificial Intelligence Innovations at Lockheed Martin's AI Center leading Rapid Prototyping for Cognitive Application Development and Ethical Use of AI. Prior to his role at Lockheed, Mike served as an executive consultant for the Department of Defense's Joint Artificial Intelligence Center in AI Product Development and as initial cadre of the JAIC's Responsible AI Champions. Additionally, Mike was the Managing Director of Data Analytics and AI Development in the Intelligent Solutions Group at J.P. Morgan Chase. Mike retired from the U.S. Air Force in 2015 as Wing Commander of the 688th Cyberspace Wing after 25 years of innovating new cybersecurity, intelligence and warfighting tactics and technologies with specialized training as a civilian research engineer, Air Force Weapons Instructor and SAASS Strategy Graduate.